About the Authors

Jeffrey L. Edleson, Ph.D. is a professor in the University of Minnesota School of Social Work and director of the Minnesota Center Against Violence and Abuse (www.mincava.umn.edu). He has published numerous articles and six books on domestic violence, groupwork, and program evaluation. He was a member of the National Research Council's Panel on Research on Violence Against Women. He is a consultant to the National Council of Juvenile and Family Court Judges and the U.S. Centers for Disease Control and Prevention.

Dr. Edleson is an associate editor of the journal Violence Against Women and co-editor of the Sage Book Series on Violence Against Women. His most recent books are titled Sourcebook on Violence Against Women (2001, co-edited with Claire M. Renzetti and Raquel Kennedy Bergen, Sage Publications) and Domestic Violence in the Lives of Children: The Future of Research, Intervention, and Social Policy (2001, co-edited with Sandra Graham-Bermann, American Psychological Association Books).

Lyungai F. Mbilinyi, M.S.W. is a researcher at the Amherst H. Wilder Foundation's Research Center in St. Paul, Minnesota. She has also served as a research analyst with the Urban Coalition of Minnesota. She earned a bachelor's degree from Macalester College, St. Paul, Minnesota, and a master's degree in social work from the University of Minnesota, Twin Cities, where she focused on children's and family issues. Ms. Mbilinyi is completing a doctorate in social work and a master's degree in public health. Her dissertation research focuses on racial and ethnic differences among battered mothers.

Sudha Shetty, J.D. is director of the Access to Justice Institute at Seattle University School of Law. She has served as a planning and development specialist for the Domestic and Sexual Violence Prevention Office of the Human Services Department for the city of Seattle.

Ms. Shetty is a frequent trainer on immigration and cultural issues for both the American Prosecutors' Research Institute and the Battered Women's Justice Project. She is a founding member and chair of Chaya, a grassroots South Asian domestic violence group, and chair of the Washington South Asian Council. She was chosen to be a 1999 fellow of the Asian Pacific Women's Leadership Institute. Ms. Shetty received a bachelor's degree in sociology and psychology from Sophia College in Bombay, India, and a law degree from the University of Bombay, India. She has lived in the United States for most of the past two decades.
